All scavenger hunt pages are one-syllable words (mostly simple CV and CVC structures), with few consonant blends. They are meant for home practice for children with speech sound disorders/apraxia of speech.

The parent or caregiver is instructed to make a game out of this activity, having the child use a flashlight or a magnifying glass to look for the pictured items based on the target sound. The child is encouraged to produce each word at least 3-5 times, focusing primarily on the beginning sound. Each scavenger hunt page depicts things that can be found inside or outside of the home (front/backyard) or in a book inside the home, and the various items can be a person, animal, object, or toy.
